

Rappahannock United Way

Court Ordered Community Service

BEFORE YOU START:

- You may be asked to complete an application form, provide court documents and references.
- You may be asked to go for a personal interview. This is to determine if your skills are a good match for the organization.
- You may be asked to attend an orientation or complete training to familiarize you with the organization and the population they serve.
- All of the above steps may not happen immediately – so allow plenty of time.
- Various nonprofit agencies deal with sensitive issues and many have restrictions on activities performed for court-appointed community service hours – there may be a limit on where you can perform your community service hours.
