FREE TAX PREPARATION AVAILABLE THROUGH RAPPAHANNOCK UNITED WAY

Fredericksburg, VA, January 22, 2014 –

Starting February 1, 2014, Rappahannock United Way (RUW) will be offering free tax preparation for households that worked in 2013 and whose income was less than $58,000.

Volunteer Tax Sites are part of the largest anti-poverty program in our nation, bringing an estimated $1 billion into the homes of low-to-moderate-income working families. Locally, the Rappahannock Region Financial Stability Coalition tackles financial stability, led by Rappahannock United Way. Rappahannock United Way organizes and trains volunteers to prepare taxes free for community members who make $58,000 a year or less.

During the 2013 tax season, volunteers filed 1,261 tax returns in Planning District 16, with the total refunds for these individuals and families amounting to $1.7 million. Because these taxpayers chose the Coalition's free tax preparation, they collectively saved $215,000 on preparation fees. This money was then available for paying bills, reducing debt, paying for an education, building savings, or even buying a car. These refunds and tax prep savings have a lasting impact on the lives of community members.

All services are provided by volunteers under the guidance of IRS-certified staff and volunteers.

Tax preparation begins February 1 and runs through April 15. Sites will be open day time and evenings, 6 days a week, at a variety of locations in the City of Fredericksburg, and the counties of Caroline, King George, Spotsylvania and Stafford.
